

What is Project Charter?

- A project charter is a formal document that starts a project. It serves as the foundation of the whole project because it clearly explains what the project is, why it is being done, and what it aims to achieve. It is usually created at the beginning of a project and approved by higher management or the project sponsor.

The project charter includes important details such as:

- Project title and purpose – what the project is called and why it is being done.
- Objectives – the specific goals the project wants to achieve.
- Scope – what the project will include and what it will not include.
- Project manager and team – the people responsible for completing the project.
- Stakeholders – individuals or groups affected by the project.
- Timeline and budget – the estimated time and cost to finish the project.

In simple terms, the project charter acts like a “contract” or “green light” that officially allows the project to begin. It guides the team on what to do and helps everyone understand their roles and the project’s direction.
